Buddy Pegs are not your average bike pedals. They are specially designed with the needs of young cyclists in mind. Unlike traditional pedals, which are typically placed high on the bike frame, Buddy Pegs are positioned lower, closer to the ground. This lower placement provides a number of benefits for young riders:

- Improved balance: By placing the pedals lower, Buddy Pegs help to lower the child's center of gravity, making it easier for them to balance on the bike.
- Increased confidence: When children can reach the pedals easily, they feel more confident and in control of the bike.
- Smoother pedaling: The lower pedal position allows children to pedal more naturally and efficiently, reducing strain on their legs and ankles.

Innovation and Safety: The Cornerstones of Buddy Pegs

Buddy Pegs is committed to providing the highest possible level of safety for young cyclists. All of their products are rigorously tested to meet or exceed industry safety standards. In addition, Buddy Pegs is constantly innovating, developing new products and features that make cycling even safer and more enjoyable for children.

One of the most recent innovations from Buddy Pegs is the addition of a footrest to their pedals. This footrest provides a place for children to rest their feet when they are not pedaling, making it easier for them to balance and control the bike. The footrest also helps to prevent children from slipping off the pedals, which can be a common problem with traditional pedals.

The Benefits of Using Buddy Pegs

There are many benefits to using Buddy Pegs on your child's bike. In addition to the improved balance, increased confidence, and smoother pedaling mentioned above, Buddy Pegs can also help children to:

- Learn to ride a bike faster: By making it easier for children to balance and pedal, Buddy Pegs can help them to learn to ride a bike in less time.
- Develop better coordination and motor skills: Cycling with Buddy Pegs helps children to develop their coordination and motor skills, which can benefit them in other areas of their life.
